

By John Walter

While looking through material to display at the Vassar post office, I noticed these nice first-day-covers commemorating the 100th Anniversary of statehood. What really caught my eye was the July 22 date, my birthday, but wrong year. In 1964 I already completed my first year of college in New York.

I enjoyed the different cachets bringing the anniversary and state information to everyone's attention.

